Significance of the Conference:

The number of new infections and deaths continues to rise rapidly and decrease all over the world, as yet, there are no signs of Covid-19 being brought under control. Concern is rising across the world on global pandemic. Lockdown and businesses across the globe are operating in fear of an impending collapse of global financial markets. This crisis, bludgeoned with apathetic economic growth especially in a developing country like India, is leading to awfully unpredictable market conditions. Shopping malls and restaurants are forsaken, whereas travel and tourism revenues have collapsed worldwide and global supply chains are being severely affected. The people are being encouraged to work from home and online classes to students.

Every section of society is affected and arduously trying to mitigate the effect. The impact that we see are both Global Distress and Prospects in nature. Few Global Distress factors such as monetary and fiscal distress, labor displacement, loss of employment, monetization of advances, stimulus and bailouts are prominently visible but aren't exhaustive. On the contrary Global Prospective factors such as flexi-working, freelancing, restructuring of rental for commercial tenants, digitalization of routine and trivial transactions, thrift behavior, reincarnation of rural markets and agri-business, online buying etc., are few to name. These conditions are altering our lives and beliefs in unprecedented ways. We are able to see how vigorously people are fighting with these tough situations and it's important to understand how the coronavirus is impacting our social, economy and industry through one day International Online Conference on “ COVID -19 SYNDROME: GLOBAL DISTRESS AND PROSPECTS” on 12th June 2020 through Zoom Conferencing mode with live streaming on Facebook and YouTube.
